

GLOBAL ISSUES AND FUTURES THINKING

Course code	HUM165
Compulsory in the programmes	-
Level of studies	Undergraduate
Number of credits	6 ECTS (48 in-class hours + 6 consultation hours + 2 exam hours, 106 individual work hours)
Course coordinator (title and name)	Assoc. Prof. Dr. Jonathan Boyd
Prerequisites	-
Language of instruction	English

THE AIM OF THE COURSE:

Futures Thinking is a multidisciplinary method for thinking constructively and creatively about the future, starting from the assumption that the future is not something that will happen to us tomorrow but is being created by us today. Students will be introduced to the major changes that will occur in the next 10, 20 or more years, including global warming, inequality, global health, and the future of work, among others. In each area, students will understand how experts have created scenarios to cope with uncertainty, identify dynamics, develop policy choices, assess alternatives, and ultimately, make decisions. Students will be immersed in Futures Thinking through discussing and debating influential reports – for example, by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change, the OECD, the United Nations, and McKinsey Global Institute. Students will then work collaboratively to assess the potential local impact of these global trends and evaluate local examples of Futures Thinking.
