AIM OF THE COURSE

The course Business Ethics and Sustainability (BES) aims to introduce students to the main concepts and frameworks of (business) ethics, corporate social responsibility (CSR) and sustainable development. The global financial crisis in the late 2000s, together with other social-economic and geopolitical events, and more recently the COVID-19 pandemic, have increased the spotlight on ethical matters, and has raised the question of how the economic and social environment have to be designed in order to contribute to the needs of the society. Whereby the idea of self-regulation and CSR plays an important role in Anglo-Saxon countries, regulation by the state is emphasized more in the European context. Most business representatives prefer the idea of strengthening the concept of CSR, as it shifts decision-making power from the states towards corporations. On the other hand, many NGOs and representatives by the society favour a more active role by governments. The course will not follow any ideology but will discuss various approaches. Moreover, a focus will be put on the stakeholder theory – the role of employees, consumers, and society in general – in a globalized world.

DESCRIPTION AND GRADING CRITERIA OF EACH ASSIGNMENT

The lecturer reserves the right to choose the form of the exams. Details about the structure of the exams and the grading policy will be presented on the first day of the lectures and will be published online. The mid-term exam will cover topics 1 to 5 (lectures and seminars), and the final exam will cover topics 6 to 11 (lectures and seminars).

The presentations will take place during the seminars. Students will be asked to present/oppose on a given topic. Details about the presentation scope and the grading policy will be presented on the first day of the lectures and will be published online.

RETAKE POLICY

If final (cumulative) mark of the course, including final exam score, is insufficient, students will be allowed to exercise their right of retake. The retake exam will cover all topics – 1 to 11 (including lectures and seminars) – seen in class during the course, and it will replace the 80% of the mid-term and the final exam. Acquired scores from all assignments will be summed up and the final (cumulative) grade will be given. The lecturer reserves the right to choose the form of the exam.

ADDITIONAL REMARKS

For seminars, students may be required to read papers, case studies, and/or watch audio-visual materials in advance. Access to such materials will be facilitated some days in advance.

Attendance and participation in the lectures and seminars are not obligatory, however strongly recommended. Studying solely from slides and/or course books is not considered to be a sufficient preparation for the exam.

Bonus points. The instructor has the right to award active students with up to 0,2 extra (grade) points. These “bonus points”, if appropriate, will only be awarded to students whose (rounded) final grade would increase after all.

Specific rules apply for in-class presentations.

- a. In case of serious reasons, individual students may be allowed to switch with another student, and/or presentations may be rescheduled – but cannot be retaken. Students are responsible for arranging the changes and must inform the lecturer as soon as possible. In any case, any rescheduling of presentations must take place within class sessions officially scheduled in the course timetable.
- b. Within two weeks of the day of the presentation, each group will receive an evaluation.

Due to the dynamic nature of the content of the course, additional material can be assigned anytime. In case of unforeseen events the schedule may be adapted. The lecturer is trying to include actual and relevant materials – therefore the final reading list may differ. Slide handouts and readings will be prepared for each class and available for download. The slides are the intellectual property of teaching instructor and students may not distribute or duplicate these notes without written consent.
